

IN SOMEONE ELSE'S ARMS

music & lyrics REN PAUL my head is growing heavy when I try to understand why the love that was so wonderful could come once to the end

I don't believe it's true
I cannot think of you -

now you're sitting in the chair hiding your face in the hands but there's no word in the air and what happens then - nobody cares but I don't believe it's true I cannot think of you -

you're telling me I've got to wait but tell me why, 'cos I can't see why should I waist my time tryin' hard to get free

I don't believe it's true
I cannot think of you -

I have no wish to hide my feelings I need so much your caress I need your lovin', need your charms, your warm-handed tenderness an'I don't believe it's true I cannot think of you -
